

Twenty Year's Experience as a Ghost Hunter Elliott O'Donnell

After having a difficult time establishing a career as a novelist, O'Donnell discovered to his happy surprise that the reading public was very interested in his hobby of chasing ghosts, which he called "Superphysical Research." After this, he made a habit of buttonholing friends and strangers to find out what experiences they had had with spirits and phantasms. He happily volunteered to camp out overnight in houses known to be haunted, and he made a concerted effort to discover any unhappy events that had, perhaps, led a ghost to inhabit.

This, then, is a collection of his juiciest remembrances of running down ghosts in Europe and America, both in peace and in the horrors of World War. (Mark Smith)

Read by Mark F. Smith. Total running time: 8:20:21

This recording is in the public domain and may be reproduced, distributed, or modified without permission. For more information or to volunteer, visit librivox.org.

Cover pictures from book illustrations by Artist (date). Copyright expired in U.S., Cover design by Annise. This design is in the public domain.

Twenty Years Experience as a Ghost Hunter Elliott O'Donnell